BIOGRAPHY

When the warlord Fung Cha slew China's evil Emperor, he was cursed so that his seventh generation after his seventh grandson would be burdened with a family too large to care for. Just short of 20 years ago, his descendant Tsing Cha's wife died while giving birth to twin children: Paul and Kate. Left to raise the babies alone, Tsing fell victim to the curse and madness when his children started splitting themselves into hundreds of identical duplicates.

Taken into state care, the twins were studied for many years until, luckily, they gained control over their abilities at puberty. They could generate and absorb, at will, their doppelgangers. Taking the names Dupli-Kate and Multi-Paul they became a crime-fighting duo until Kate joined the Teen Team under Robot's leadership. The current whereabouts of Multi-Paul are unknown.

DISTINCTIONS

I hate being alone. Kate spent most of her life with her brother Paul, before joining the Teen Team. She is usually very quiet and self-centered, but looks for company all the time. She is there for the team, always... and can be her own team if need be.

Proud Chinese heritage. Kate's ancestor was a Chinese conqueror. Her blood is thick and powerful; and barely tamed after the hundreds of years her family spent in obscurity. Kate is a dormant volcano: on one side she is a shy, quiet girl that barely speaks up; on the other she can look down on the most powerful people on Earth.

Crime-fighting as a way of life. Trained by the government alongside her brother, Dupli-Kate is a formidable opponent, proficient in every way of martial combat and capable of perfect coordination among dozens of duplicates. If you can do it right, she can probably do it better... a hundred times better.

POWERS AND ABILITIES

Dupli-Kate can create identical duplicates of herself and absorb them back. The exact cause of this power is unknown since it is not similar to cellular mitosis; by concentrating Kate can simply "split off" a single duplicate with the same mass as her original self. Although she cannot create multiple duplicates simultaneously, she can then create duplicates of the duplicates, with the exact limit to her abilities undetermined. Each duplicate is capable of independent thought, feeling and action though they are psychically linked to the original Kate.

Harm and death of any duplicate resonates through them all, causing grief and traumatic feelings in all of them.

Kate also possesses extensive training in close combat martial arts, including many forms of grappling and kick-boxing.
